Behold, now is the acceptable time; behold, now is the day of salvation.

2 Corinthians 6:2

Tick Tock Tick Tock

Where did 2022 go? I can hardly believe that we just zoomed through it and here we are beginning 2023! It seems the older we get, the quicker time flies by. When the Apostle Paul wrote these words in his letter to the Corinthian church, I suspect he was thinking along these same lines. Here's what he wrote:

Behold, now is the acceptable time; behold, now is the day of salvation. ... 2 Cor. 6:2

As a charter member of procrastinators anonymous, I am well aware of how easy it is to delay decisions, reschedule undesired chores and put off unwanted responsibilities. In some areas that is relatively inconsequential, but Paul was focused on a most critical topic---- eternity.

We all have an appointment with death, and by its very nature the timing is unknown. As we begin this New Year, let's purpose a couple of critical items on our to-do list:

- 1) Be sure that you have accepted God's love –gift of eternal life through Jesus Christ, His Son, given to you, personally
- 2) Ask God to bring opportunities in the coming year to share that Good News with others who have delayed, showing them that TODAY is the "acceptable day"
- 3) Get actively involved in ministries that have a high priority to proclaim this critical message of Salvation.

Throughout the coming year, we intend to make this our theme, our clarion call, and I hope you will join us as we broadcast God's Word together on Thy Word Network.
